OFF TO IBIZA?

Matt has just returned from a dive trip to Ibiza where he dived one of the Mediterranean's largest wrecks—the Don Pedro. It lies on its portside from around 25 metres down to 43 metres. We were invited by one the islands largest dive centres to create links between the two centres with a view to organize dive trips. On the quieter side of the island and the hotels local, the dive centre is ideally located on the beach front. If you're interested speak to Matt for further info.
